

Pre-conference workshop:

To boldly go: Corpus approaches to the language of Science Fiction

Convenors: Claudia Lange (TU Dresden)
Sofia Rüdiger (University of Bayreuth)

Wednesday August 18th, 2021

9:45-10:00	Claudia Lange (TU Dresden) & Sofia Rüdiger (University of Bayreuth) Workshop Introduction
10:00-10:30	Matt Gee (Birmingham City University) “there was much new to grok”: A semantic analysis of word creation in Science Fiction
10:30-11:00	Asya Yurchenko (TU Dresden) Quantifying the language of estrangement in Science Fiction using unique lexical compounds as a measure
11:00-11:30	Andreas Blombach, Thomas Proisl, Stefan Evert, Philipp Heinrich & Natalie Dykes (FAU Erlangen-Nürnberg) Into the Perryverse : A CL journey to the realm of lexical complexity
11:30-12:00	Coffee Break
12:00-12:30	Tanja Behrens & Anke Schulz (University of Bremen) Where no woman has gone before: Five decades on the Enterprise
12:30-13:00	Catherine Laliberté, Melanie Keller & Diana Wengler (LMU München) “So I trucked out to the border, learned to say ain’t, came to find work”: The sociolinguistics of Firefly
13:00-14:00	Lunch Break
14:00-14:30	Martin Eberl (LMU München) How “alien” are fictional languages? Approaching ‘estrangement’ in constructed languages
14:30-15:00	Elizabeth Oakes (University of Helsinki) Representing altered consciousness in American New Wave Science Fiction: A corpus stylistic analysis

15:00-15:30	Patricia Ronan (TU Dortmund) & Gerold Schneider (University of Zurich) To boldly go – whence and where?
15:30-15:40	Short Break
15:40-16:00	Claudia Lange (TU Dresden) & Sofia Rüdiger (University of Bayreuth) Final discussion
16:00-16:30	Coffee Break